

brass tiles traces history, connects fragments and serves as separation between history and modern culture the tiles inside of the forums footprint will continuously be replaced by local, raw-cut basalt the tiles outside of the forums footprint will continuously be replaced by purpose-cast artificial stones floating car park deck serves as a stage for concerts etc.

»open lounges« engaging people in having conversation movable seating that also serves as lighting plovdiv central square